

ROSPO

A Play in Three Acts

Written and Directed by Joseph Disorbo

Stage Manager..... Owen McCarthy

Producer..... Sarina Chitkara

Costume Designer.... Julia Breckenridge

Lighting Designer..... Barry Yang

Sound Designer..... Joseph Disorbo

Visual Artist..... Ava Moseley

Properties Mgmt..... Cesca Medeiros

Set Design/Construction.... Alex Halaby & Joseph Disorbo

Videographer..... Graydon Hanson

Tattoo Artist..... Kim Aranda

Tech Mgmt..... Anthony Cinquina

CAST

TONY..... Alex Halaby

JOHN..... Peter McClearn

BRENDA..... Curran Amster

OLD PRIEST..... Josh Harkins

SCRIBE..... Sam Marquis

GOD..... August Siegel

CAPTAIN..... JT Meyer

ADMIRAL..... Ruby Taylor

SAILOR..... Rowan Goss

140 Minutes / 10 Minute Intermission

Warning: Bright Lights, Loud Sounds, Mentions of Suicide

Director's Note

I once read a director's note that went on for an entire page. I thought to myself—who the hell wants to read all that?

Thank you for coming. Enjoy ROSPO.

Biographies A-G

Curran Amster '26 she/her (Brenda) has a super undeclared major and loves performing and attention at all times. Besides participating in Hep Zoo productions, she loves playing piano and guitar, writing songs, singing with her a capella girlies and dancing. Joey Disorbo is a genius. That's all.

Julia Breckenridge '25.5 she/her (Costume Designer) Is a theater and art history double major. She works in the costume shop and has been a part of many shows at middlebury. She hopes you enjoy the show!

Anthony Cinquina '25.5 he/him (Tech Manager) is an English Major from Jersey City, New Jersey. He loves Fortnite, DJ Khaled, and unboxing videos and he hates anything involving theater or the performative arts.

Sarina Chitkara '25.5 she/her (Producer) is from New York, New York. After celebrating the much anticipated success of ROSPO, she plans to listen to Adele and read on a beach. She hopes to work with Joey on creative endeavors in the future.

Rowan Goss '25.5 he/him (Sailor) is a recently decided IGS major from Los Angeles. When he's not yelling "Sir!" in cockney, you'll find him in bihall cosplaying someone who reads books, singing with the mamajamas, and smashing stereotypes as a straight white male through his eccentric playing of the guitar without singing at the same time due in part to his learning disability but mostly his fear of failure. He is thrilled to be joining the sensational cast of ROSPO!

Biographies G-M

Alex Halaby '25 he/him (Tony) Born in a small fishing village twenty minutes east of Boston, Alex Halaby had his sea legs long before stepping foot on stage. Legend has it, he ended a two-year dry spell by attracting fish to his family's nets with only the sheer magnetism of his character. He was five years old. At six, after train-hopping to LA, Alex took some odd jobs for the silver screen; The Wire, Mad Men, The Office (UK) to name a few. After a brief public meltdown following his role in The Dark Knight (The Joker), Alex skipped town once more, this time to Dharmasala, India, where he found his spiritual alignment again and impressed everyone with his chill vibes. The rest is history. Alex has been awarded the Medal of Honor, The Nobel Prize in Literature, and the EGOT, but he says that playing Tony in ROSPO is "cool too."

Josh Harkins '25 he/him (Old Priest) is an IP&E major from just outside of Washington, D.C. He is happy that he was chosen to participate in this play because, you know, it's just nice to be thought of sometimes. He encourages anyone reading this to call their grandparents, parents, siblings, and/or third grade teachers. When not acting his heart out, he is the Puzzle Master for the Middlebury Campus and will talk your ear off about anything crossword related. Did you do the March 10th Friday puzzle? I loved 21-down and [cut for brevity].

Sam Marquis '25 he/him (Scribe) is a Sophomore from just outside of Boston. He is double majoring in Psychology and Religion. When he's not tearing it up on the stage, you can find him just outside of Boston.

Owen McCarthy '25 they/he (Stage Manager) is a sophomore biology major theatre minor from Holden, Massachusetts. They typically tend to be on the stage, but they stage managed the 2022 First Year Show, and now they're managing this one! They do have to admit, the feeling of grand puppetmaster is an intoxicating one. In their free time, Owen plays a lot of Dungeons and Dragons and Quadball, and dodges questions about how tall they are. Owen is so excited to show ROSPO to the world, and they hope you enjoy!

Biographies M-M

Peter McClearn '25 he/him (John) In my past months sitting on the Finance Committee this year, hearing case after case of requests. I have seen a consistent pattern of issues that strikes at the heart of our campus everyday. Opportunity. It is the opportunity to experience athletic success. One such example is our nordic club team not being unable to send their entire national team to California to compete as the school did not wish to bear the cost of sending them. It is an opportunity for equal treatment, where hundreds of students, both on club teams and independently, have asked for the equal use of the trainer's office. These two projects will be cornerstones to my tenure as Senator, building opportunity for Furthermore, to further this credo of opportunity, I wish to find fifty problems. Not large ones that will be capstones to my tenure, but the JT Meyer '25.5 he/him (Captain) is an English major from JONY (the better looking sister of JOB). After a twenty-five year stint in the foreign service, he was asked to leave the Austro-Hungarian embassy after several displays of "disorderly conduct and unrepentant drunkenness" in front of state officials. After returning to the United States in 2007, he took on a role at Lehman Brothers, helping the company diversify into highly leveraged mortgaged backed securities. On the hunt for a new job in 2008, a chance encounter with a rabid raccoon convinced him to dedicate his life to the performing arts. This role will be his first.

Ava Moseley '25.5 she/her (Visual Artist) Ready to take your illustrations to the next level? Let Ava help! Ava has mastered Adobe software, making it easy for you to turn your ideas into stunning visuals. Discover the possibilities of drawing rats. Unleash your creativity. This illustrator offers custom-made illustrations to your specifications - creating beautiful visuals to your project's exact wants and needs. Try it now!

Biographies s-z

August Siegel '25 they/them (God) is a theatre major with a focus in design. They've stage managed several shows at the college, including Mr. Burns and Fun Home, and also threw together The Nightman Cometh this past fall. August is continuing their descent into madness by acting as your local deity in this production, following their streak of only acting in "funky little shows". They hope you enjoy ROSPO, and would finally like to remind you to that dog spelled backwards is god.

Ruby Taylor '25 she/her (Admiral) enjoys long walks on the beach and quality time with loved ones. She is very friendly, so don't be scared, sorry she's jumping, she's not going to bite, she's just being friendly! She's a good girl, she is, oh yes she is. She hopes you enjoy the play.

Yuxuan "Barry" Yang '25 he/him (Lighting Designer) bets you didn't know they put a tiny picture of a frog underneath every seat. Please claim this little surprise prepared just for you if you actually took the time to read all of our bios. Barry is an IGS European Studies and Economics double major from Shenzhen, China. There is no frog underneath your seat. Ha ha. He is very grateful to be a part of this phenomenal production. His previous lighting design credits include Welcome to the Party and MCMT's Big Fish. Barry is excited to kick-off the production series taking place here at the Hep Zoo this semester. He would like to consider himself hated by one vampire so far.

Joseph Zisorbo '25.5 he/him (Writer; Director; Sound, Set Designer) is happy you're here. His surname actually starts with a D, but he's in too deep now to reformat the entire program. Joey likes everything—least of all writing plays. For inquiries, you can contact him at jdisorbo@middlebury.edu, or on instagram, at @Hubbardshire.

Cesca Zzedeiros '25 (she/her) is a History major from Miami Beach, FL who heavily procrastinated getting this bio in. She went to a performing arts middle school for theater where she thought she realized she was better than all this. Alas, life is a circle, and she is delighted to be back in the realms of public humiliation.

Special Thanks

Proofreading and Editing

David Bowman – Suzanne Bruckner – Becky Disorbo –
Charlotte Kovacevic – Mary Lou Wood – Patricia Zupan

Primary Development

Jim Dougherty – Ryan Greguski – John McShea
Allison Rimmer – Kayla Schwartz – Samantha Surks –
Prannoy Thakore – Goodro Lumber – Yerba Mate

Vocational Papercrafters

Isaiah Bennett – Nell Bernard – Eliza Bernene –
Drew Bolotsky – Ellie Cady – Cali Jantzen –
Anna Krouse – John McShea – Sophie Schuele

Audio and Recording

Emma Bordachar – Kabeja Gahiga – Abby Wilkins

Advice and Counsel

Alex Draper – Madison Middleton – Prannoy Thakore

Moral Support

Liv Cohen – Drake – Hannah Elefante – Inner Isshin –
Sorina Johnston – Elsa Marrian – Col McDermott –
Otter Nonsense – Quigleys – Gavin Richards – Jess Quirk
AND MANY MORE!

Coming Attractions

Somewhere

by Marisela Treviño Orta, directed by Olga Sanchez Saltveit
April 6-8, 2023, Seeler Studio Theater

A Woman Left Lonely

A Night of Short Plays and Scenes by Tennessee Williams, directed by Sophie Butler-Rahman and Bri Beach
April 13-15, 2023, Hepburn Zoo Theater

Destroying Angels

by Cole Merrell, directed by Zachary Maluccio
April 20-22, 2023, Hepburn Zoo Theater

Bright Half Life

by Tanya Barfield, directed by Aidan Amster
April 27-29, 2023, Hepburn Zoo Theater

Hamlet

Directed by Alex Draper
May 4-6, 2023, Wright Memorial Theater

Middlebury Discount Comedy

May 4-5, 2023, Hepburn Zoo Theater

Tick, Tick... Boom!

by Jonathan Larson, directed by Kayla Schwartz
April 27-29, 2023, Hepburn Zoo Theater

LEANLAND 2023

TBA

Middlebury's Land Acknowledgement

The production was rehearsed and performed on land which has served as a site of meeting and exchange among the Indigenous Peoples since time immemorial. The Western Abenaki are the traditional caretakers of these Vermont lands and waters, which they call Ndakinna. We give thanks for the opportunity to share in the bounty of this place and to protect it.

SUPPORT THE INDEPENDENT ARTS

"I BELIEVED" TOAD STICKER
$5.00

Limited to Physical Patrons Only;
Available after the show.

T-SHIRT FROM THE FUTURE DESIGN TBA

All cast and crew members will get one of these. If you happen to want one too, scan the QR below to fill out the form so we can contact you when the design is released.

This form closes on Sunday, April 2 2023 to ensure exclusivity

<https://forms.gle/wp9cSng1s2rAEYxv9>

EXTRAS

EVOLUTION OF THE TOAD

Prehistory
August 2022

Illustrator Rework
January 2023

Believe Phrase

Birth of Overlay Motif
February 2023

Stickerbomb Toad
March 2023

Temporally Aware Toad
April 2023--?

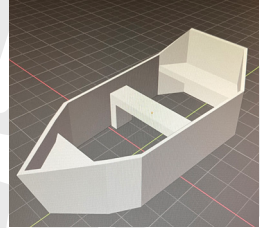

PHOTO GALLERY

Where the First Word
Was Written

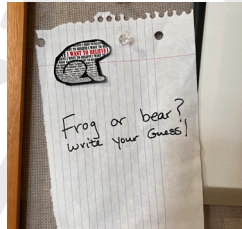

Nameless Warrior with a
Rogue Toad Application

Original Boat CAD
(Blender)

Chilling in the Weapons and Armaments Section of Theater Prop Storage

The Public Struggles to Decipher our Shenanigans

Students enjoy their lunch under the watchful gaze of three
5-ft tall promo posters

EXTRAS

PROMOTIONAL ART

Boat On Promotional Poster

Tony and John idle on the ocean chop. This poster also comes in variants with Brenda, Day, and Seminary Office in the center instead.

Missing Poster Headshots

Tony and John's best likenesses. Used in mid-stage promotion as link to cast interviews video (go/believer).

Brenda, Day

Just one stop before Scene 12, Brenda waits for her connecting bus. Nothing in this photo except for Brenda exists in real life; it is made entirely of 2-d textures from Google Images.

Seminary Office

Old Priest and Scribe draft yet another letter to the estranged John. In the source pictures, Josh and Sam are not leaning over the same table...they are also not in a real seminary!

Joseph Disorbo 2023

MATTHEW 7:12
THEREFORE ALL
THINGS WHATSOEVER
YE WOULD THAT MEN SHOULD DO
TO YOU, DO YE
EVEN SO TO THEM